

A fun and appealing Science Show for tweens.

SEASON 1

Set in a studio lab, The Science Guy answers important questions every day with the help of his young lab assistants, e.g. where does electricity come from? How does a magnet work? How does an airplane fly? Each episode also contains two location based inserts that help to reinforce the theme of the day e.g. a visit to a wind farm or a lighthouse. Úna, the Roving Reporter also helps to investigate the theme of the day by visiting scientific locations, labs and galleries with the help of local school children.

The show also contains a silent movie style comic drama strip at the end of each episode starring a professor and his apathetic apprentice. Through mime and action, the professor will do his best to explain the topic of the day to the unwilling apprentice who can never quite come to grips with the information. Despite this fact, however, he still manages to outsmart the professor everytime.

Short animated inserts also feature throughout the programme, these inserts recap on the matter under discussion in an entertaining way.
